ENGLISH AND CHINESE DICTIONARY, with the PUNYI and HINDARIN PRONUNCIATION.

An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, by the Rev. W. L. GOSWELL, published at the Rev. Press Office, Hongkong.

POH says and practical service this work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in Chinese. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming a complete and useful dictionary.

The scope of the work is to give, and its utility is to be seen, that a person who understands English to communicate with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves. It contains a complete and useful dictionary, and is complete in every respect.
